

- I. a communication link to a user having a wireless or cellular or cordless hand held device;
- II. means to communicate with the computerized center in order to get the appropriate IP address of the second user;
- III. means to establish the communication of the first user with the second user via the Internet;

Adding additional depended claims:

After careful review of the prior art, the applicant is requesting to amend the claims by adding 6 (six) New Claims 34 till 39. All these new claims are fully supported in the disclosure. The references is according to the Paragraph Numbering in the Patent Application Publication Number US 2001/0039197 A1.

New Claim 34 is supported starting from paragraph 154 in the disclosure.

New Claim 35 is supported starting from paragraph 191 in the disclosure.

New Claim 36 is supported starting from paragraph 197 in the disclosure.

New Claim 37 is supported starting from paragraph 225 in the disclosure.

New Claim 38 is supported starting from paragraph 217 in the disclosure.

New Claim 39 is supported starting from paragraph 240 in the disclosure.

The New Claims are as follows:

- 34. The system of claim 1 wherein each base station has a unique ID that is independent of its IP address.
- 35. The system of claim 1 wherein the handset supports handover of an on-going conversation.
- 36. The system of claim 1 wherein the location of the base station can be determine by the computerized center.
- 37. The system of claim 1 wherein a base station can receive calls from the PSTN for several handsets, and route a call to the correct handset.